BACKGROUND AND MISSION

The Geneva Global Health Hub (G2H2) was created in 2016 during a civil society side event to the 69th World Health Assembly. Its goal is to provide civil society with a space to share knowledge, meet and create initiatives surrounding more democratic global health governance. G2H2 contributes to longer-term strategic thinking and coherent and sustained action by civil society entities involved in global health advocacy, taking into account country-level contributions and national variability. The hub is guided by its belief in democracy with equity in diversity, dignity, accountability and transparency, as well as ethics and justice.

AREAS OF INTEREST

- Global health democracy
- Global health governance
- Civil society inclusion

HEALTH-RELATED ACTIVITIES

G2H2 provides its members with an enhanced network, increasing communication between civil society actors in health by providing information on its website, publishing event information and issuing action alerts on specific topics. Members have the opportunity to stay in touch via social media (twitter), email and face-to-face meetings. G2H2 also provides basic information on Geneva-based institutions active in health-related areas and on meetings, consultations and other opportunities for civil society actors to get involved in questions surrounding health-related topics.

GOVERNANCE AND STAFF

G2H2's secretariat is hosted by Medicus Mundi International in Geneva, with the executive secretary Thomas Schwarz being the only employed staff. The secretariat is overseen by a 8 member steering committee, president of which is Andreas Wulf.

FUNDING SOURCES AND BUDGET

Members have to pay a membership fee of CHF 500 per year, or a reduced fee of CHF 100 per year. Additionally, members add voluntary contributions in cash or kind, depending on their capacities.
