Immigration Policies and the Choice between Documented and Undocumented Migration

What determines whether a temporary migrant chooses to go abroad as a documented worker or as an illegal alien? In Economina (Nov. 2017), Slobodan Djajić and A. Vinogradova address the question from a theoretical perspective by focusing on how immigration policies, aimed at both documented and undocumented foreign workers, influence the choice between the two modes of migration.

BOOK

Organising Rebellion

As non-state actors are involved in the vast majority of today’s armed conflicts and crises, an urging question has to be raised as to whether, and at what point, these groups are bound by international law and thereby accountable for their acts. In a book published by OUP and adapted from his PhD thesis at the Graduate Institute, alumnus Tilman Rodenhäuser addresses this major issue.
