

INTERNATIONAL HISTORY AND POLITICS FORUM

THE INTERNATIONAL HISTORY AND POLITICS FORUM (IHPF) is a regular series of discussions convened by the International History and Politics Department at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies to discuss a variety of global questions from a multiplicity of historically-informed perspectives. The IHFP takes place every other Tuesday from 16:15 to 18:00 at the Graduate Institute (Maison de la paix, Auditorium 2) or online during the autumn and spring academic semesters.

2022 SPRING

Tuesdays 16:15–18:00

Tuesday 1 March 2022

Anatomie Politique de la Domination

Béatrice Hibou Sciences Po Paris

Tuesday 15 March 2022

Emmanuel Levinas' Talmudic Turn:
Translating Hebrew into Greek

Ethan Kleinberg Wesleyan University

Tuesday 29 March 2022

On Imperiality: Between Race and Climate

Mohamed Amer Meziane Columbia University

Tuesday 12 April 2022

The Deep and Problematic History of Climate
Governance in the Dry Lands

Diana K. Davis University of California

Tuesday 26 April 2022

The Invention of International Order

Glenda Sluga European University Institute

Tuesday 10 May 2022

Frozen: A Financial Account of the Palestinian
Nakba of 1948

Sreemati Mitter Brown University

Tuesday 24 May 2022

La Survie de la Collaboration dans la France
de l'Après-Guerre, 1944-1954

Christophe Bourseiller Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris

